

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

For More Information:

Dennis D. Vegas, Chief Marketing Officer
713-344-0298 or dvegas@acclaimenergy.com

Legacy Energy Solutions Changing Its Name to Acclaim Energy Advisors

HOUSTON (July 22, 2009) – LEGACY Energy Solutions, a Houston-based provider of energy management solutions, announced today it is changing its name to Acclaim Energy Advisors (<http://www.acclaimenergy.com>).

The new Acclaim Energy brand will reflect the attributes on which the company was founded – customized energy solutions that create sustainable competitive advantages for public and private entities. The new brand also will better position the company for entry and growth in new and emerging markets. Acclaim’s entire team will remain in place with the founder and chief executive officer, John Elder, at the helm.

“We’re excited about our new corporate identity, which will more accurately reflect our ability to serve clients as they strive to meet the challenges of today’s complex and evolving energy marketplace,” said Elder. “Through our procurement, energy risk management, energy efficiency, sustainability and information management services we help clients remain viable and even thrive in today’s tough economic times.”

Acclaim Energy will continue to offer the same suite of services and focus on its key sectors of healthcare, commercial, educational, industrial and government. Since the organization’s establishment in 2003, the Houston-based company has grown to a large regional player, serving customers in multiple states in both deregulated and regulated markets. This year alone, the company has experienced a 15 percent growth in sales staff in order to help capture increased interest in its service offerings due to rising demand.

Elder added, “We offer clients a trusted and true consultative model and believe Acclaim Energy is a solid evolution of the LEGACY Energy Solutions brand. We look forward to expanding our total energy management approach with new products and people while continuing to provide superior service and expertise to our clients.”

- more -

About Acclaim Energy Advisors

Acclaim Energy Advisors (<http://www.acclaimenergy.com>) is a full-service energy management firm headquartered in Houston, Texas. Acclaim helps businesses take control of their energy costs by providing a full complement of solutions, including: energy markets information, utility bill verification, energy risk management, energy procurement, energy efficiency, sustainability, measurement and verification, and strategic energy-planning services. Acclaim provides services in both the wholesale and retail markets for electricity and natural gas within deregulated and regulated energy markets across the United States.

###